School Aid Bill Finally Approved; Legislature Quits

Curbs Also Are Applied to Labor And Agreement Reached on Plan To Submit Vet Bonus to Voters

By H. H. DAUGHERTY

COLUMBUS, June 16—(P)—Ohio legislators caught up on sleep today—and perhaps dreamed of dollar signs—after concluding the biggest spending session in state history by working from 10 A. M. Saturday until 7:22 A. M. yesterday.

The Republican dominated 97th general assembly allotted $600,000,000 since it convened Jan. 6—millions in excess of any previous biennial appropriations.

An economy-minded house wrestled for months with the Daniels-Cramer school bill to increase state aid to public schools, and on the final day a compromise version of the measure was approved providing $86,000,000 a year, $27,000,000 more than last year. Teacher pay boosts of from $600 to $800 annually are expected to result.

Meandering Along the Main Stem

By WASH FAYETTE

Dr. E. D. Martin, chief of the game management section of the Ohio Division of Conservation, today urged campers, hikers and outdoorsmen, who often become "coon-nappers", to adopt a "hands off" policy regarding the handling or mothering of "stray" raccoon kittens or other babies of the wild found wandering with no apparent guardian.

"Coon-nappers", a word coined a few years ago by the division to describe persons guilty of kidnapping babies of the fields and woodlands, annually cause the unnecessary loss of a number of raccoons, rabbits, squirrels and other wildlife simply because they do not understand nature's ingenious ways of seasoning its wildlife young.

Mothers of the wild train their babies to rough life of survival by taking them far from their usual shelter and allowing them to shift for themselves sometimes for days at a time. The mother can usually be found within a short distance keeping a watchful eye upon her family.

Persons who find "straying" families of wildlife are cautioned to keep hands off not only because of harm to the wildlife crop but because it is illegal to possess raccoon and other animals in such a manner.

Auto Race Driver Killed at Dayton

DAYTON, June 16—(P)—Elbert (Grandpappy) Booker, veteran big car driver, was killed yesterday in the first event of the AAA sanctioned auto races at Dayton speedway when his Jewell Hal special crashed into a wall and overturned.

The 45-year-old driver from Detroit, Mich., was picked up unconscious from the track and died of a skull fracture en route to St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

Booker, who was a foreman at the Briggs Body Co. in Detroit, was nationally known as a race car driver although he never qualified for the 500-mile race at Indianapolis. Motor trouble prevented him from qualifying in 1946.

Booker's wife and three children were watching the races from the pits when the accident occurred on a straight-way at the far side of the track.

The mishap marked the third fatality at the Dayton Speedway in eight years.

The 20-lap 100-mile feature race was won by Duke Dinsmore of Dayton, O., who finished 10th in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis on Memorial Day. His time was 8:02.55.

40 Families Lost In Mexico Flood

AGUA CALIENTES, Mexico, June 16—(P)—About forty families are missing and all may have been killed in a dawn flood that swept from two broken dams yesterday and wiped out the village of Viudas De Oriente, 40 kilometers (25 miles) from here. Fourteen bodies have been recovered and rescue workers said it seemed unlikely that there could have been many, if any, survivors.

Shipping Halted At All Ports By No 'Contract'

Nearly 700 Vessels Tied up—Thousands Of Men Left Idle

NEW YORK, June 16—(P)—

Nearly 700 ships were tied up in United States ports today, NMU President Joseph Curran reported, in a work stoppage under a union "no contract, no work" policy.

The president of the NMU predicted that if union demands were not met by ship owners 1,150 ships would be affected in a few days by the dispute in which four other CIO unions are involved.

Although Curran did not detail the ports and the number of ships in each, he said 500 of the nearly 700 ships were in east coast ports. More than 2,000 ships would be affected, Curran claimed, if current negotiations between the union and tanker companies failed. Tankers are not affected by the present stoppage.

Although no pickets showed up at piers the work stoppage ordered by Curran went into effect shortly after the expiration of contracts at midnight yesterday.

The unions were insistent that no strike had been called but that the men would not work without a contract. The seamen were ordered to remain on board ships "as long as possible" and a union spokesman said that if they were ordered off, a "lockout" would be put in effect.

Union ports agents said 150 ships were affected in New York harbor, 40 in Philadelphia, 40 in Baltimore, four in Boston and one in Portland, Me. In Houston, approximately 1,000 men quit work shortly after the midnight deadline and in Seattle, 12,000 Puget Sound waterfront workers were ordered to quit their jobs.

On the west coast, contract extension was agreed on by shipowners and the CIP ship clerks, checkers and supercargoes, an affiliate of the longshoremen, and "tentative" meetings were scheduled for later in the day with the cooks and stewards and the ACA.

A west coast CIO maritime committee spokesman, however, said that "similar to the east coast pattern as announced, the west coast unions which are locked out will have their members remain on the jobs."

Pledges of mutual support by five CIO maritime unions indicated that a solid front of 200,000 CIO maritime workers would be involved in the stoppage.

The unions and their claimed memberships are the NMU, 90,000; American communications association, 3,000; international longshoremen's and warehousemen's union, 80,000; marine engineers beneficial association, 15,000; marine cooks and stewards, 12,000.

Curran also made public a telegram from the AFL seafarer's international union pledging "complete support" of the CIO seamen and promising that AFL men would refuse to work on ships that might be allocated by operators of struck lines to those not affected.

The stoppage hinged on demands by the NMU and the ACA for wage boosts of 20 and 15 percent respectively, plus other contract improvements, and extension of the expired contract by the marine cooks.

Private Sleuths On Baby Murders

MASSILLON, June 16—(P)—Private investigators will be hired by city hospital to "clear the record" if public officials fail to solve the mystery concerning the deaths of two baby girls at the institution, says J. G. Lester, president of the hospital's board of trustees.

Asserting the hospital was determined to prevent the deaths of Rosemary Morton, 10 weeks, and Diane Jean Brand, eight weeks, from being entered in the records as an "unsolved case," Lester said the hospital would take definite action if public officials do not solve the mystery.

Stark County Prosecuting Attorney D. Dane McLaughlin continued an investigation into a Wayne County detective's statement that he saw a man and woman entering and leaving the hospital via a rear stairway at about 7:30 P. M. June 6, the time when the deaths "could have occurred." The deputy was a patient at that time.

Party Killer Held

COVINGTON, Ky., June 16—(P)—Mike Robinson, 60, of Cincinnati, today faced a charge of murder following the fatal stabbing of Everett T. Thompson, 47, also of Cincinnati, during what police described as a drinking party yesterday.

Cofall Resigns as State Liquor Director

COLUMBUS, June 16—(P)—Gov. Thomas J. Herbert today announced the resignation of State Liquor Director Stanley B. Cofall of Cleveland.

The resignation was effective today.

The governor said Director Cofall gave "business reasons" in his formal letter.

Cofall is president of National Solvent Co. of Cleveland.

The governor did not immediately announce a successor.

Cofall took office with the Herbert administration January 13. His selection as enforcement chief, William J. Kelch, a Cleveland police officer, resigned several weeks ago.

Well publicized was Director Cofall's speech before a state liquor association convention, during which he described "a man with a black mustache" who was said to have offered Cofall $100,000 to allow the operation of slot machines in Ohio taverns.

This man, whose identity Cofall said he did not know, was never apprehended, but he figured in several subsequent events.

Cofall also participated in the attorney general's investigation of private club liquor permits in Cleveland and northern Ohio, one of the big liquor stories in several years.

Record Floods Threaten Iowa

WITH FLOOD LOSSES in the valleys of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers and their tributaries already reaching $26,000,000, fresh rains keep the rivers at flood stage with 1,000,000 acres inundated. The above airview shows the flood waters of the Raccoon and Des Moines rivers, which for the second time in a week have cut southwest Des Moines, Ia., from the rest of the city.

Ban on Wallace Refused by Court

Anti-Communist Group's Move Fails

WASHINGTON, June 16—(P)—Federal Justice James M. Proctor refused today to bar Henry A. Wallace from speaking at the government-owned Watergate Amphitheater here tonight.

The judge rejected a petition from the American anti-communist association, headed by Rep. O'Konski (R-Wis.), that he order Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug to deny Wallace use of the Watergate.

Krug's department has jurisdiction over the Watergate, an outdoor theater in park lands near the Lincoln Memorial.

"These matters do not fall within the judicial realm," Justice Proctor commented in dismissing the petition.

O'Konski left the court building with a declaration to reporters that he would take the matter up in Congress.

"I am going to tell the membership of Congress that until our government takes a truly anti-communist stand here at home, that we in Congress should refuse to appropriate any money to fight communism abroad," he said.

Wallace, who is crusading against the Truman foreign policy, is expected to discuss his views on peace and perhaps also clarify (Please Turn To Page Two)

Fields and Cities Covered by Water

Hundreds Homeless, Damage Heavy As Streams Spread over Valleys

KEOSAUQUA, Ia., June 16—(P)—The flood-swollen Des Moines River threatened today to surpass its highest peak here since 1903, as a stage of 25.1 feet was recorded with the river still rising.

The 25.1 level was even with the crest of last week's flood, the second highest in history. In 1903 the river reached a peak of 25.83 feet.

The flood inundated the entire business district of this town of 1,000 population to depths ranging from four to nine feet, Major Norwood Teal said. The telephone office was isolated, and operators were taken to their posts by boat.

The telephone office at Bonaparte, ten miles downstream from Keosauqua, had three feet of water in it. The switchboard and the operator's chair had been elevated above the flood.

Only a small part of the residential area was flooded, and all residents had been evacuated before the flood struck, Teal said.

Keosauqua, like Ottumwa, was hit for the second time in eight days by a near-record flood.

At Ottumwa, meanwhile, residents were watching the high waters recede slowly. S. E. Decker, at the Des Moines weather station, said (Please Turn To Page Two)

Names Sought For Quadruplets

MILES CITY, Mont., June 16—(P)—Quadruplets, born to 34-year-old Mrs. Edward Randash, were being called by number today in the order of their birth while their mother pondered over possible names.

The babies, three girls and a boy, were born Saturday.

The smallest weighed a pound and 12 ounces and the largest, the boy, weighed three pounds 12 ounces. Dr. Elma Howard, who delivered the four, said yesterday they all seemed to be doing well.

Mrs. Randash is a beauty operator and Randash a garage owner.

Company Loses War Profits Case

WASHINGTON, June 16—(P)—The Supreme Court refused today to rule on a manufacturer's challenge of the constitutionality of the War Profits Renegotiation Act.

This law gives the government authority to recover asserted excessive profits from war goods contractors.

Justice Rutledge delivered the Court's 8-1 decision. Justice Douglas dissented.

Constitutionality of the act was challenged by the Aircraft and Diesel Equipment Corporation, Chicago manufacturer of diesel fuel injection equipment and aircraft engine parts.

The company contested claims by the War Contracts Price Adjustment Board and the Secretary of War that it owed the government $270,764 as excessive profits for 1943.

Plane Crashes To Be Studied

Four More Disasters Occur on Weekend

(By The Associated Press)

Four fatal airplane crashes occurred over the weekend, on an airliner disaster that took a toll of 50 dead and raised the number killed in commercial plane crashes since May 29 to 146—49 more than died in domestic airline accidents last year.

Continuation of the air accidents prompted President Truman yesterday to appoint a five-man board to inquire into all phases of air safety.

Last Friday, the 13th, a Capital Airlines plane carrying 47 passengers and a crew of three crashed into a granite mountainside near Keys Gap, W. Va., killing all aboard.

Just two weeks before a United Airlines plane crashed while attempting to takeoff at La Guardia Field, in New York City, killing 43. The following night 53 persons died in the crash of an Eastern Airlines plane near Port Deposit, Md.

At least 12 persons died yesterday when an army B-29 bomber, on a training mission, struck the side of Hawk's mountain near Springfield, Vt. on leaving Tucson, Ariz. Saturday, the plane carried 15, but army officials said the passenger list was changed at the greater Pittsburgh area. The 12 bodies found were burned so badly as to make identification difficult.

In the other crashes this past weekend, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Wolf of Dayton, Ohio, died when their private plane fell into the Atlantic ocean near Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Capt. William H. Greenleaf, Connecticut Air National Guard officer, died in the crash of his P-47 fighter at Windsor Locks, Conn.

Another major disaster was narrowly averted at Fort Knox, Ky., when an army C-47 transport plane carrying 22 crashed and burned shortly after taking off at (Please Turn To Page Nine)

Ousted President Of Wilberforce Is Held Up by Court

XENIA, June 16—(P)—The dispute over the presidency of Wilberforce State University was in the courts today.

Under an order issued by Probate Judge W. B. McCallister Jr., Dr. Charles H. Wesley was restrained from setting up a rival summer school and from interfering with the "orderly operation of the office of president."

The University African Methodist Episcopal Church board of trustees, which removed Dr. Wesley as president last week, applied in common pleas court Saturday for an injunction against Dr. Wesley. The church board declared Dr. Wesley had set up offices and announced his intention of continuing as president of the state controlled and largest of Wilberforce's three colleges—the college of education and industrial arts.

Missing Man's Body Is Found in River

PAINESVILLE, O., June 16—(P)—Lake County Sheriff Stewart Harland reported that a body believed to be that of Dudley Hawley, 55, prominent Cleveland investment banker missing since Saturday, was found today floating in the Chagrin River.

His station wagon was discovered Saturday three feet from the river bank near Kirtland Rd. After he had attended a dinner of the Bond Club of Cleveland.

Coast Guardsmen and Boy Scouts had engaged in a search of the river's banks.

Debt Reduction Comes First, He Tells Congress

Politics Charged By Republicans Who Had Supported Bill

WASHINGTON, June 16—(P)—President Truman vetoed today the $4,000,000,000 tax reduction bill, virtually killing any possibility of a cut in income taxes this year.

The Republican-dominated Congress will vote whether to pass the bill over the veto, but backers of the legislation conceded they saw no chance for success.

It requires a two-thirds vote to enact a law over the president's disapproval. Leaders said that can be mustered in the House, which will vote tomorrow, but not in the Senate.

In a message to Congress, Mr. Truman said the bill "offers dubious, ill-apportioned, and risky benefits at the expense of a sound tax."

The president declared it offers "the wrong kind of tax reduction, at the wrong time," he added.

"Proposals for tax reduction must be examined in the light of sound and carefully related fiscal and economic policies. Unless they are consistent with the demands of such policies, they should not be approved."

Reaction from the bill's backers was immediate and, for the most part, caustic.

Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.), author of the measure and chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, issued a statement saying "the president's suggestion that we wait for tax reduction until next year is nothing but cold-blooded politics." Knutson's obvious reference was to the fact that 1948 is a presidential election year.

He declared that by the veto (Please Turn To Page Ten)

13 Crash Victims In Common Grave

LEESBURG, Va., June 16—(P)—A common grave in the little Union Cemetery here was prepared today for the 13 unidentified victims of the Friday the 13th air disaster that killed 50 persons.

As those arrangements were completed, investigators stepped up a four-day inquiry into the Capital Airlines crash.

Chairman James M. Landis of the Civil Aeronautics Board, announced in Washington that he will discuss progress of the investigation at a press conference in his office at 12:30 P. M. (EST).

An airlines official said mass burial ceremonies, with representatives of all denominations participating, is scheduled for 1 P. M. (EST). Individual markers are to be placed on the common grave.

Only last night Dr. William Frazer, Loudoun County coroner, had telegraphed the families of persons known to have been aboard the airliner suggesting a mass burial.

While 37 bodies were identified, Dr. Frazer said the prospect for singling out the others "seems remote."

Plea to Governor Made by CIO Head

COLUMBUS, June 16—(P)—Jack Kroll, president of the Ohio CIO council, today urged Gov. Thomas J. Herbert to veto the Van Aken labor regulation bill, which he said meant "industrial chaos for the future."

"The Van Aken bill undercuts economic and political rights of workers and unions which have been recognized in Ohio for over a century," Kroll declared in a public statement. "It would make second-class citizens of union workers."

Collision Kills One

CHILLICOTHE, June 16—(P)—A five car collision north of here yesterday killed Orpheus Chaffin, 26, and injured six other persons, including his wife and four-year-old daughter.

Home Talent Musical Comedy Planned Here

Firemen Sponsor Benefit Show for Next Week

"Cornzappin'", a musical comedy based on the Grand Old Opry radio program, will be sponsored by the Washington C. H. fire department on June 25 and 26 in the high school auditorium with a cast composed entirely of talent from throughout the city. Proceeds from the show will go into the firefighters' local 699 benefit fund. Miss Betty Struble of Kansas City, Mo., has come to Washington C. H. to direct and organize the show. The play is a three act comedy which will feature a number of novelty acts. A girls' chorus composed of high school girls, will present several song and dance acts. Aside from the high school girls, all the parts, including those of women, will be taken by men. Miss Struble, who is now recruiting talent for the show, said that she had been very pleased with the cooperation she has received here from those she had asked to participate in the show. Cast for the play will be announced later, she said.

Jeff Band Club To Plan Campaign

Tentative plans for a fund raising campaign will be discussed by the Jeffersonville Band Boosters Club when it meets at 8:30 P. M. Wednesday at the high school building. Mrs. Cecil Long, president of the club, has asked that all band mothers and workers be present at the meeting for the discussion. She also asked that all workers be prepared to turn in whatever funds they have collected to date. She said that the money collected during the campaign will be used to buy music, uniforms and instruments for the 90 piece all-county band which has members from Bloomingburg, Madison Mills, Jeffersonville and Wayne high schools.

Jacob E. Rowland Dies Late Sunday

Jacob E. Rowland, 70, a former resident of Fayette County, died Sunday evening at his home in Darbyville after a long illness. He is survived by his widow, Ada; three daughters, Mrs. Anna Sowers, Miss Iva Rowland and Miss Ruth Rowland; seven sons, Lewis Rowland, Glendon Rowland, Norman Rowland, Elvin Rowland, Milton Rowland and Charles Rowland; and Herman Rowland; one brother, Thomas Rowland; and two sisters, Mrs. Helen Woods and Mrs. Lydia Rice. Funeral services will be at 2 P. M. Tuesday at the Mt. Sterling Nazarene church. Burial, under the direction of the E. T. Snyder Funeral Home, will be in the Mt. Sterling Cemetery. Friends may call at the late residence at any time.

Fred Mark Assigned To New Jersey Church

Fred Mark, who interrupted his studies to go to the South Pacific during the war as an army chaplain, has been assigned to Whitehall Methodist Church at Towaco, N. J., as a student pastor. He is the son of Mrs. Fred M. Mark of Washington C. H. The pastorate was made available through Drew University at Madison, N. J., where he is to resume his studies in the theological seminary as a sophomore next September. Mr. and Mrs. Mark, who were married at Grace Church here two weeks ago, are now at home in the Whitehall parsonage in Towaco.

Ban on Wallace

(Continued from Page One) his position in the 1948 presidential campaign. The former vice president told a news conference yesterday that the United States and Britain "would" and "should" fight Russia if the Soviet Union tried to expand southward into Turkey near the Arabian oil fields. He declared the Soviets should be told this. But he added he has no evidence that Russia would try that and he hopes she would not. Later Wallace withdrew the words "should fight" and said he meant to say only that the United States and Britain "would fight" under those circumstances. He told reporters he will have more to say tonight on (1) how he thinks an "enduring peace" can be achieved and (2) what he intends to do in the next presidential campaign.

Floods in Iowa

(Continued from Page One) er station, said the flood would abate much more slowly than that of last week. He said it would take the river six days to return to its banks. Flood workers were keeping a close watch on the power plant and the water works, both of which were knocked out last week. The Red Cross and the Salvation Army were feeding most of the 10,000 persons left homeless by the flood in Ottumwa. Ottumwa flood director Herschel Loveless estimated property damage at Ottumwa alone at more than $10,000,000. Down the river Kekuk, Ia., reported both the Mississippi and the Des Moines River on the rise. A Burlington, Ia., forecaster last week said the highest peak in history would be recorded later this week on the Mississippi between Keokuk and Louisiana, Mo. The Cedar River was out of its banks at Cedar Rapids, Ia., and the Iowa River was threatening the University of Iowa Trailer Camp for married students and various buildings along the river. The Cedar River crest of 18.5 feet was expected to reach Cedar Rapids shortly after midnight and the Iowa River crest was expected at Iowa City sometime today. At Red Oak, in southwest Iowa, Sheriff Wayne McPherson said he would continue the search today for the body of Marion Edie, 22, of Emerson, Ia., believed to be the only person drowned in this week's floods.

Mrs. Mansfield Funeral Tuesday

Mrs. Minnie F. Mansfield, 71, died at 6:20 P. M. Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Viola Nichols, 1103 Rawling Street, after an illness of five years. Mrs. Mansfield was born in Pickaway County and had lived in Fayette County for the past 50 years. She was the widow of Grant Mansfield, who died here in 1940. She was a member of the McNair Memorial Presbyterian Church. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Goldie Waterman of Cincinnati, Mrs. Nichols and Mrs. Lottie McCoy of West Mansfield; one son, Elza Mansfield of Washington C. H.; two brothers, Charles Martin of Lancaster and John Martin of Dayton; 16 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at 2 P. M. Tuesday at the Kiever Funeral Home. Rev. John Glenn will be in charge of the services. Burial will be in the family lot in the Washington C. H. Cemetery. Friends may call at the home of Mrs. Nichols until noon Tuesday.

Ohio Legislature

(Continued from Page One) final session of nearly 22 hours. Critical of Governor Most of the legislative leaders were severely critical of the executive's hands-off policy and are prepared to hold him responsible if the legislative program they enacted backfires on the Republican party. Notwithstanding the all-time high money allotments, Chairman Paul H. Ballard of the house finance committee said the state would be approximately $4,000,000 in the black at the end of the biennium. The general operational budget carried approximately $547,000,000 in which $439,000,000 came from general revenues and the remainder represented federal subsidies and royalties. More than $71,000,000 new money was allotted for capital expenditures at the state universities, welfare institutions and other projects, while about $60,000,000 allotted for similar purposes 2 years ago but not spent was re-appropriated for the same purposes. The labor control legislation prohibits secondary boycotts "featherbedding," sit-down and jurisdictional strikes by employees and bans employer interference with union organization and collective bargaining. A reasonable number of pickets would be permitted at strike-bound plants, but force violence or threats to keep workers from entering a plant would be prohibited. Unions would have to furnish annual financial reports to members who requested them and political contributions would be taboo. Public employees would be prohibited from striking on penalty of automatically losing their jobs. Reinstatement could not be made within a year, and then would be followed by a two-year probationary period. Female and child labor laws were relaxed to an extent comparable to that during the war.

Poet's Corner

THE HIGH THRONE OF FATHERHOOD
The nation pauses in its haste
And calls for "Father's Day".
And thus exalts God's crowning work
That in His archives lay.
God looked upon His finished work
Through all its living forms,
And for its "Rulership" chose man
That he might all adorn.
God set the father in the home
To reign as priest and king:
To rule the home with power divine
Excuse, he must not bring.

The "Rulership" of home is his Respect, he must command:
His solemn mandate is from God,
Vast interests are in hand.

The father ministers as priest
Where holy incense rises:
He leads his family near to God,
Strengthens all holy ties.

The home thus fortified of God
Extends a wholesome might:
It sanctifies the land and state
And moves the world toward light.

And thus like some great towering oak
The father stands supreme,
While mother like a fragrant vine
With loving tendrils cling.

We would not pluck from any brow
The glory that is due,
But give to "Fatherhood" the crown
Ordained of God for you.

Let "Father's Day" lift up this crown
Restore its honor bright:
Let fathers serve from day to day
As in God's holy light.

W. H. WILSON
WASHINGTON C. H. O.

Portal-to-portal pay actions were limited to two years:

School Subsidy
The Daniels-Cramer school bill as finally approved provides for an annual state subsidy of approximately $86,000,000 a year compared with the $59,000,000 provided for the last biennium. Seventy-five percent of the increase must be used for teachers' salary increases which would range from $600 to $800 a year.

A rotary fund of $4,000,000 from which school boards could borrow to purchase school buses was set up, and $2,000,000 was set aside for rehabilitation of school properties. Salary increases averaging about 30 percent were voted for members of the legislature, all state officials and employees and county officials. Judges were given a $1,000 increase to a maximum of $12,000.

The new salaries of legislators will be $2,600 a year, governor $13,000, lieutenant governor $4,000, secretary of state, auditor, treasurer and attorney general $8,500. All will become effective with new terms. Salaries of non-elective employees become effective at once.

Local government aid was pegged at $12,000,000 allocated from sales taxes and $13,000,000 from certain intangible taxes each year. Co-operatives were ordered taxed on the same basis as other corporations.

In The Nation Today

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON, June 16—(AP)—You want to buy something on time? Now the government lays down the rules on how you do it.

For example, On things like autos and refrigerators you must pay one-third of the value down and the balance within 15 months.

There's a chance the controls may be removed altogether. Should they be? President Truman says no. He argues this way.

Goods still are not plentiful enough to meet full demand. Even so, installment buying is increasing. And—

The more that kind of buying increases, with goods still not plentiful, the more the tendency for prices to rise. He wants prices kept down.

The opposite argument comes from Rep. Wolcott, Michigan Republican and chairman of the House Banking Committee:

The controls work against those people who haven't been able to save enough money to make a fair-size down payment. For example:

Now a man who wants a $1,500 auto must pay one-third down, $500, and the rest in 15 months.

But a man who hasn't saved $500 still could buy a car if the down payment were smaller and the time for the balance was longer than 15 months.

In 1940, before the controls, total consumer credit was $9,153,000,000. In 1946, with the controls in effect, it was $9,958,000,000.

President Roosevelt, under his wartime powers, imposed the controls in 1941 to control prices a bit. President Truman has continued them.

But should such controls, with the war over two years, be continued by presidential wartime power alone?

Mr. Truman thinks not, even though he wants them continued. This week he asked Congress to continue the mby passing a law.

He says that if Congress doesn't continue them by law, he'll drop the controls altogether.

He told that to Wolcott's banking committee, which is considering the problem.

Because of Wolcott's attitude, outlined above, his committee is unlikely to recommend to the full Congress that such a law be passed.

So if Congress doesn't act, the president will drop the controls, even though his economic advisors want them continued.

Giving Parties Costly Hobby Of Hollywood Millionaire

By HAL BOYLE

HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—An elderly vegetarian who doesn't tippie is the king of west coast party throwers.

And no one has more fun at his parties than does multi-millionaire Atwater Kent, 73-year-old retired inventor and radio manufacturer.

Searching for operatic talent, helping charities and giving parties are his hobbies.

"I like people and I like to see them have a good time," he said. "I have no work to do now since I retired. So consequently I can put all my time into my pleasures—and people are my chief pleasure."

His home is a fabulous red-roofed white villa atop a mountain in Bel Air, an exclusive district where tired people rest from making much money and even the moths are reported to have gold-plated wings. The estate, one of the real showplaces of America, has a series of terraced gardens reminiscent of an old Italian castle.

Kent—his friends on calling him "Attie" but "I really prefer to be called Atwater"—lives alone on the estate with seventeen house servants and seven gardeners.

Diplomats, financiers, movie stars, notables in many fields and ordinary people he just met and liked are invited to his parties.

They all come. His parties are divided into two kinds—civic and private. The civic affairs may bring up to 500 guests—such as the party he once threw for the children of the movie colony. He hired a circus for the day—gossips said it cost $3,000 and he enjoyed it so much he brought the circus back for four other parties. Total casualties: one camel fell off a truck, one lady writer fell off an elephant.

I went to one of his smaller private parties, the kind he likes best to give. He greeted us at the door—as he does every guest individually—a slim small upright man with keen and friendly blue eyes and an old-world politeness. He wore a gray suit, black shoes, and a large red and gray bow tie. He is what the ladies hereabouts describe as "one of the last of the real gentlemen."

Scores of gaily colored balloons with long strings floated about the rooms. I asked him his recipe for a good party—aside from the good drinks, good food, and good music he always provides—and he said:

"For a friends' party like this I like to have about 125 people. Over that it gets unwieldy, and I can't mingle with them all and be friendly or as hospitable as I like."

"I think that at least half the people should know each other. If there are too many strangers they don't mix well. The first hour is the critical period of a party—it is always quiet. By the second hour they've eaten and had a little to drink, and are feeling better. By the third hour they know each other, and everything is going strong."

I asked about the balloons. "I first used them at the circus party," he said. "They made quite a hit. They stir things up—take away the formality."

Although he lives abstemiously himself, he delights in seeing his guests eat and drink well. But his parties are never raucous.

Kent said he didn't know which of the hundreds of guests who had come to his home had been most interesting.

"And if I did," he said, "I wouldn't say. Like Will Rogers, I like every man I have ever met. I just want to share in people having a good time."

A film figure present estimated that it cost "$15 to $20 a head—that's the way we figure them in Hollywood, by the head"—for entertainment of the kind Kent likes to provide.

"That would make $2,500 or under for this little gathering," he said.

But to Kent now "giving parties is my biggest pleasure in life. It's worth it to him if the guests have fun. And where do you think Hollywood's leading party thrower was born?

May Reap Wheat

LONDON—(AP)—Beating the recent havoc of blizzards and floods, T. W. Tomkins, "the flying farmer," plans to make every one of his 6,000 acres at Apethorpe, Northamptonshire, work overtime. He is sowing his wheat from the air in a twin-engine plane flying 75 m.p.h. at 50 feet. After he has shoveled out the wheat on five flights, letting the wind spread it evenly over the ploughed land below, a tractor will finish the job.

Tomkins runs an all-tractor farm. He has been flying his own plane for the last 18 years and regularly inspects his crops from the air. If his tests are successful, he will swoop across neighbors' wheat fields to combat a winter's toll of 200,000 acres of wheat damaged by frost.

Unions Should Sell Themselves

From the point of view of the individual worker, one of the most compelling arguments against the 100-percent closed shop is that it does not make for maximum efficiency and service to members on the part of the union.

Under the closed-shop principle, each worker must join the union or lose his job. As soon as he goes to work in the industry in question, he automatically becomes a dues payer. If he doesn't like the union and quits it, his employment in that industry terminates. That is why the closed shop union monopoly should be ended, as any other monopoly that destroys individual freedom.

A union, on the other hand, which depends for its membership on service, is like a business—it must please its customers or they will not patronize it. Thus, the union whose membership is purely voluntary and not compulsory will be on its toes to do the best possible job for its membership.

This is not a theoretical argument. The railway brotherhoods, for example, do not have the dubious advantage of the closed shop—that is specifically outlawed by the Railway Labor Act. No railroad worker has to join them and pay them dues. But they have signed up the vast majority of railroad workers in all categories because the workers feel that the unions are doing excellent work on their behalf and that they should be supported. And railway labor is among the best paid in the world, and enjoys innumerable other benefits.

A union which has a monopoly of workers in its field can take it easy. It isn't concerned whether the members are happy with its policies or not. A union which has to sell itself will produce top results.

Signs In Cities

An amusing cartoon lately depicted a car rolling along a straight, smooth and almost empty highway, with huge signs every few hundred feet giving the number of the route. The next picture showed the car at a corner in a city street, with other streets intersecting from five to six slanting directions, full of tangled traffic and pedestrians. Where, oh, where were the highway directions? By determined effort the reader could finally find, high up on a pole, a tiny sign with the number, but with neither arrow nor printed direction.

It was a little funny—but not very funny. It was too true a picture of too many bad situations in strange towns.

Summer is just about here. Motorists from far places are beginning to be seen in our busy midst. Are all our signs clear and in readable positions? Or are the most important ones tiny and high up where a driver cannot watch the traffic and see the sign at the same time? Are we ready for our guests?

Real Homes For The Aged

An industrial city in England which has made a good start on solving the housing problem is also providing for its indigent aged at the same time.

As part of a suburban group housing program the city fathers have promoted what they call the "Aged Persons Project."

A Letter from Washington

By Jane Eads

WASHINGTON — Dominating the setting for a gay party here recently was a portrait of former Attorney General Francis Biddle, scholarly looking in his court robes.

The party was given by the Biddies in their attractive Georgetown home in honor of the painter of the portrait, Mr. Biddle's brother George.

The affair was in the nature of an unofficial unveiling of the portrait, which is to hang in the halls of the justice department along with the likenesses of other former attorneys-general.

Passing judgments on the work—all favorable—were members of the supreme court, some of Mr. Biddle's former colleagues in the cabinet, the Brazilian ambassador, the French and Chinese ambassadors and the retiring ambassador of the Netherlands and Mrs. Loudon.

Professional critique was offered by the wife of the Brazilian ambassador, Mme. Carlos Martins, a sculptress of note—like George Biddle's wife, Helen Sardeau, who did a bas-relief for the lobby of the post office building at Ossining, N. Y.

George Biddle did the murals that grace the walls of the justice department. He has written a book and with his wife has spent some time in Brazil. Recently he returned from Germany, where he did some sketches of Nazi figures in the Nuremberg trials for a weekly magazine.

Mrs. Francis Biddle is also a talented member of the clan. Under the name of Katherine Garrison Chapin she has written some remarkable poetry.

She won considerable acclaim several years ago for a symphonic poem, "Lament for the Stolen," which was set to music by composer Earl McDonald and presented by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra.

Her sister, Cordelia Van A. Chapin, is a gifted sculptress and has exhibited her work here, in New York, Paris and Philadelphia, where Biddies seem to shine in an orbit all their own.

More than a hundred government girls are flocking to the D. C. office of the U. S. Employment Services every week inquiring about work possibilities in other cities. They say they're leaving town soon.

Reason for this is the dismissal of some 30,000 federal employees in the past few weeks.

USES says many of the girls are making applications through the local office in the hope they can step off the train into a brand new job elsewhere.

Most of them prefer jobs in the big towns, rather than in the small towns from which they originally came.

The day is good for settlements, endings, adjustments, news and also offers. Good and ill fortune will be yours in your next year. Beware of quarrels involving litigation. Be circumspect with the opposite sex. Forewarned is forearmed. Safeguard your health. Elders will be helpful, but watch finances and avoid extravagance. Born on this date a child will be very obstinate and self-willed, but industrious and clever. Loss through law, property, friends or spouse, also feverish ailments are foreseen.

One-Minute Test Answers

1. Robert Cameron Rogers.
2. Alfred Tennyson.
3. William Shakespeare.

This provides groups of apartments, with one room, bath, and kitchen, where single people can be housed in comfort and independence, rent-free. Members of each group can have social contacts and help each other out in emergencies.

This idea might also be applied to old people who are not indigent, but able to pay their own way. Such a group of small houses, preferably on one floor, in a pleasant location, with a shopping center, library, and movie house, would be a popular innovation almost anywhere in this country. The elderly are like any other age-group in being happier surrounded by others with the same interests and common problems.

New Electoral Plans

How should the president be elected? A House subcommittee is considering a constitutional amendment by which the electoral vote of each state would be divided in proportion to the popular vote, instead of going solidly to the winner. This system would in 1944 have given Roosevelt 14 votes from California to Dewey's 11, and 12 votes in Ohio to Dewey's 14. The present method gave Roosevelt all California's 25 votes, and Dewey all of Ohio's 26.

There is a good deal to recommend the change. The minority in hopelessly one-party states would have an incentive to come out and vote. By making a strong showing the Democrats could pick up an electoral vote or two in Maine, and the Republicans in Alabama. The net result would correspond more closely to the popular will. Outlawed more closely to the popular will. Outlawed more closely to the popular will. Outlawed more closely to the popular will.

Also it would break up the practice of choosing candidates only from large doubtful states, such as New York and Ohio. A good man, capable of getting enough votes throughout the country, would then be a wise choice even if he failed to carry New York.

The veteran looking for a house may be excused for not understanding how it will help him to have rents go up to a figure he can never hope to pay.

People who rashly let 200,000 volts of electricity flow through their systems may be operating according to scientific principles, but most of us prefer our science in smaller doses.

Nine million veterans will have won another war when they reinstate their life insurance.

Heart Bother You Sometimes?

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MANY people are under the impression that all symptoms affecting the heart are due to actual disease of the heart itself and therefore if they experience an unusually rapid heart or other unaccustomed heart action, they are terribly upset. They worry needlessly. In fact, their anxiety may only increase their heart symptoms, since according to Dr. George F. Strong of Vancouver, B. C., many such manifestations may be due to nervous tension.

There is a disorder known as neurocirculatory asthenia, not due to actual heart damage, which causes such things as fluttering or throbbing of the heart; there may be an extra beat of the heart from time to time, which is felt as a flopping or turning over of the heart; there are attacks of rapid heart beat which may be preceded or followed by trembling, sweating, paleness or slight fever. There may be shortness of breath from time to time, brought on particularly by excitement.

Actual Heart Pain

In some instances, there is actual heart pain, which is felt as a sort of burning sensation under the breast bone, or there may be aching. The pain may be felt during or after exercising, and it is not relieved by rest.

Patients with this condition tire easily, sleep poorly, and often wake up tired. They dread any sort of work. They cannot concentrate and are unable to control their emotions. The hands often feel cold, and the palms are wet. Dizziness and faintness are frequently present.

Similar Symptoms

There are other conditions which may cause similar symptoms, sometimes with heart damage, such as an increase in the amount of secretion from the thyroid gland, early tuberculosis of the lungs, rheumatic fever and undulant fever. However, by means of careful examination, it is possible to tell neurocirculatory asthenia from these other conditions.

According to Dr. Strong, the main thing in treating neurocirculatory asthenia is to rid the patient's mind of the fear that his symptoms are an indication of heart disease. This of course requires that the patient have confidence in his physician.

Quieting the Nerves

Other things which are helpful in the treatment of neurocirculatory asthenia are the use of barbiturates which act to quiet the nerves and which, of course, should be taken under the direction of a physician and in the amount which he prescribes.

At the beginning of the treatment, tea, coffee, tobacco and alcohol are prohibited. It is not necessary that the patient be put into a hospital, and prolonged rest is to be avoided. Neurocirculatory asthenia is not a serious disorder, but is one which may be eliminated with proper treatment.

CHAPTER THIRTY-NINE

BILL CAME very soon after. He put a box of flowers down at the foot of the bed, bent and kissed Diane, a long kiss on the lips.

She would not lift her eyes to his face to see the disappointment she was convinced must be written there. She held to his hand. "Have you seen the baby?"

"Not yet. I'll have a look at it when I go out. Everts says it's perfect, feet and hands and all that, and it's enough to know that, isn't it? And that you've come through all right!"

He had not gone home and slept as the nurse had told him to. Overstrained nerves and his instinctive habit of saying little when his feelings were deepest, gave his voice a strained, clipped edge.

Diane dropped his hand.

"I'm going to call her Nellie."

"Nellie? Why Nellie?"

"It was my mother's name."

"That's so. But wasn't it really Helen or Helena or Eleanor? Nellie's a nickname."

"No, Nellie." She added: "It's my baby."

"It is, darling!" Bill said with fervor. He put his lips to her throat. "And you may call it anything you like. I wish I'd known you had it in mind, though; Mother asked me about it. She's telephoning round for me. She sent her love and she'll be in to see you after a day or so. She insists that so I went to the apartment, put it in order and looked up—"

Diane realized, now, the tiredness in his voice. She glanced fully at him. "Bill, you look a lot worse than I feel! Was it terrible for you?"

He laughed. "Pretty bad. But it's over. Doctor Everts says you'll be sitting up in ten days, home by the end of the second week. Say, Di, Mother suggests we get Annie Harkness to take care of the baby. She isn't a graduate nurse, but she's good. Mother had her for me. And a woman who's older like that would take a lot of responsibility off your shoulders—"

"We don't have to decide it just now, do we?" Diane countered.

He thought she was exhausted. He said quickly, a little contritely: "No, you're to rest, not think of anything."

She had expected to be bored by her enforced stay in the hospital, to hate the fussing over her. But she found it exciting; the nurses, rustling in, Doctor Everts on his calls, the internes, even the cleaning women, only emphasized the importance of this miracle of the baby.

Flowers came, box after box, cards, gifts. Seemingly the whole world wanted to pay tribute. One afternoon Lois opened the door wide enough to toss a tissue-wrapped package to the bed. "Scared to come closer, Di! I'm allergic to the stork!" Vanished. Roses from Danny, two dozen long-stemmed roses.

Mrs. Arden expressed her happiness that it was over and both Diane and the baby so well. Bill's father held her hand, spoke proper words of congratulation. Paula came, kissed her. "I'm glad you're calling the baby for your mother. It's pleased Joe." Diane saw tears in Paula's eyes as there had been in her father's.

Bill came in every evening, telephoned to her every morning. But Diane's high moment was when the nurse laid the baby beside her to feed. Then the white-walled room became a cloister, shutting them in together. The first time she had felt some terror at being left alone with so helpless a bit of humanity, but that was soon lost in her joy of possessing it. Soon she dared tighten her arm about it, hold the small hands in hers, cuddle the pink feet, bury her lips against the sweet-smelling golden fuzz of hair.

The warmth of its body one with hers, the baby would sleep and Diane would lose herself in blissful dreaming. No troubled thoughts could touch her now; they belonged to a world outside this she held in the curve of her arm. They belonged to that other self she had been. This self, born with the baby, had nothing to do with them.

It was, she thought, one still afternoon, the metamorphosis she had expected to happen to her when she married Bill. She smiled, remembering that Paula had said it was good for a girl to have a baby because then she had something to think about besides herself. She had Nellie, now. It would be Nellie first, always.

She believed she was thinking of the baby when Bill again brought up the matter of engaging Annie Harkness and she opposed it.

"If Nellie should be sick—we ought to have a trained nurse, at least for a while, Bill."

"Annie'd know what to do, as well as any trained nurse."

With patience Diane marshalled other arguments. "It's very important to keep up the hospital training—Annie's old-fashioned, she'd want to rock Nellie!"

"You can tell her not to," said Bill, as patient as she.

"Bill, don't think I'm stubborn or just want to have my way! I really feel very firm about this." Firm, because she was thinking of Nellie. "I want to take Miss Tierney home with us. She's that pretty nurse who came in yesterday when you were here. She adores Nellie—says Nellie's the best behaved baby in the nursery. And it's that training that is so important—"

He yielded, but not without saying: "If you don't know anything more about her than that she's pretty—we know everything about Annie!"

J. Emmet came again and tossed a formal looking document into Diane's hands. "There's that house you wanted. Though why is beyond me. It'll fall to pieces, come a strong wind."

"Bill Dad—" Diane looked only startled.

"I told you I'd give you something when the baby was born, didn't I? There was some hurt in his voice, and coming into his eyes."

She put her arms around his neck, pulled his head down to hers. "You're an old precious! But you spoil me so. A little gift! Just an estate!"

"You can have more, any time you say the word," he muttered.

She unfolded the paper when he went away. Its legal phrasing was bewildering, but she gathered from it that Diane Tarrell Arden was owner, now, of "said land and buildings thereon."

She had thought of a little boy that afternoon! But—a passion of love swept her—Nellie would swim in that swimming hole, swing from those trees, climb the sheds, run down the long lane, over the meadows! Grow sturdy in that pure air—

"I'm thinking of Nellie," she said to Bill, that evening.

The deed was in Bill's hands. He had read it and she had told him of the afternoon she had found the house, of how much she had liked it, speaking a little urgently against the stiffening she saw on his face, the way his fingers crushed the paper in them. "And it would be wonderful for the baby, out there. I'm thinking of her!"

"You know how I feel about not living on your father! You might have made that clear to him!"

"Bill, I couldn't refuse it!" But she could not tell Bill why. It concerned her father too intimately. She finished: "It isn't so far out that you'd mind the driving. Only a little more than eight miles—"

Bill put the deed down on the bed. "It happens that three miles out the Duell Road is the county line. If I run for District Attorney I have to keep my residence in this county. So, Di, I'm afraid you must rent this newly acquired property of yours, or return it to your father." He smiled in his relief at this turn in the issue.

"Oh," said Diane, regretfully. Then: "But if you don't run?"

"Not a chance of that. It's as good as settled."

But Bill was gone in a few minutes and the baby in and there was no room in Diane's heart for disappointment.

"I guess you're glad you're going home tomorrow," said the nurse when she gathered up the baby.

Diane did not answer with the promptness most patients gave to the amiable question. Her eyes swept the small room a little wistfully. Then she said: "As long as I have the baby!"

The nurse thought that was a queer way to put it, and from a girl who, it looked, had everything.

Wanted: Privacy

MISSOULA, Mont. —(AP)— Responding to a call saying a man lay "ill, drunk or dead" on the bank of the Missoula river, police aroused an old man who protested indignantly:

"Nothing the matter with me—I'm taking a sun bath."

There's no law against combining sunbathing and napping so the officers withdrew with apologies.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach and the ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Hunting Seasons In Ohio Reduced

COLUMBUS, June 16—(AP)— Three straight years of cold, wet nesting and breeding seasons, plus a post-war increase in the number of hunters caused the Ohio Conservation Commission to issue shortened 1947 pheasant and rabbit hunting season schedules today, tentative until the group's July meeting.

Last year's 41-day rabbit season was slashed to 25 days, and pheasant season was announced as Nov. 15-22 and rabbit from Nov. 15 until Dec. 13.

Daily hunting hours including opening day, are from 9 A. M. to 4 P. M. The commission did not alter the daily bag and possession limits of four rabbits and two pheasants.

A state-wide squirrel season was established for Sept. 13-27, with the limits of four continuing. The grouse open season was set for Nov. 15-29.

The commission said there would be no open season on skunk or Hungarian partridge but the opening date of the Lake Erie trapping district was advanced from Dec. 1 to Nov. 15 to coincide with the opening date of the inland trapping district. The Lake Erie district closes March 15 and the inland district, Jan. 15.

If no protests are received before the next meeting the dates become permanent.

YOUR NEW REGULAR ARMY WANTS YOU TO KNOW HOW VOLUNTEERS ARE SELECTED

OUT OF EVERY 100 VOLUNTEERS WHO APPLY

20.24% fail to pass the mental tests

11.36% fail to pass the physical tests

6.42% fail for moral or sub-standard administrative reasons

TOTALS

38.02% fail to pass

61.98% are accepted

(Based on figures for January, 1947, when 35,478 men enlisted and 1702 extended their enlistments.)

Would it surprise you to know that only about 60 out of every 100 volunteers for the new Regular Army can measure up to today's requirements for a soldier?

Only the top 60% of American youth—mentally, morally and physically—can pass the rigid tests.

There are reasons for this which your Army wants you to know:

1 The men we send overseas must represent you to millions of people who are struggling towards democracy. They must be typical of our best.

2 The truly modern Army requires a far higher type of soldier than ever before. The wide use of scientific material and the broad program of research necessitate a superior man. Your Army must lead the world in the caliber of its men if it is to provide adequate defense in the atomic age.

These are reasons why Army enlistment standards today are higher than ever before—why your new Regular Army, although comparatively small in size—is performing its world-wide duties well.

In Japan, for example, ours is the smallest occupation force per capita in world history—yet there is no record of greater achievement in such a short space of time.

If you can measure up to these standards, you will find enlistment in the new Regular Army a good career. You will live and work with friends whom you will value always. You will have opportunity for travel and high adventure, and a chance to qualify for Officer Candidate Schools and Technical Schools. Above all, you will have the deep satisfaction of doing an important job for your country.

Ask at any U. S. Army Recruiting Station about the many opportunities open to men who volunteer for three years.

Greater mileage... Greater safety in Sohio's great new ATLAS tire!

See? More rubber on the road—that means more mileage—greater safety. That's why it outwears any pre-war, first-line quality tire ever made!

An entirely new tire is now making a mark on the highways of America.

In its development, 392 separate tread designs of every possible type were built into actual tires and taken out to the testing grounds with two objectives in mind—longer mileage, greater safety. The mark you see at the left is the mark of the tread which outlasted every other tread design.

This new longer mileage Atlas is backed by SOHIO'S famous Atlas guarantee—one of the broadest ever written, with instant make-good at 38,000 Atlas Dealers coast to coast.

IT'S WIDER!

for mileage and safety
More rubber on the road spreads the wear... makes the rubber last... gives greater gripping surface.

IT'S FLATTER!

for mileage and safety
Entire width of tread shares the wear evenly. Less "spot wear"—many more miles for your money—and safer miles, too.

IT'S COOLER!

for mileage and safety
Cooler-running tread design gives you greater blowout protection. And the famous Atlas Grip-Safe anti-skid features are retained.

And, ATLAS TIRES carry SOHIO'S famous written guarantee.

DAR Sunset Supper Held Saturday Evening

The Washington Court House Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, observed Flag Day with a Sunset Supper at the Washington Country Club, Saturday evening. The Daughters and their guests assembled in the club lounge at four-thirty. The program, which preceded the supper, was in charge of the Flag chairman, Mrs. A. S. Stemler. The Regent, Miss Charlene Mark, presided. Mrs. Ralph Penn read a message from the President General and Mrs. Urcel Hays read the State Regent's message for June. Two lovely and appropriate piano numbers were played by

Bride Elect Is Honored With Shower

Miss Marilyn Milner, bride-elect of Mr. Lincoln Schwart, was complimented on Saturday evening, when Miss Jane Riber entertained a group of close friends of the honor guest, with a lovely miscellaneous shower at her home on Saturday evening. The spacious rooms were tastefully decorated with summer flowers. Informal visiting was enjoyed by this group of congenial girls during the earlier part of the evening. Later, Miss Milner was invited to the dining room where a large white wedding bell was suspended with white streamers entwined with smilax, extending to the corners of the table, forming a canopy for a beautiful fountain with the water falling gracefully over white roses floating in a water garden. The unusual array of gifts arranged around the clever centerpiece were presented the honor guest and were graciously responded to. A tempting dessert course, carrying out a pink and white color scheme in the ice cream, cake and rose mints, was served to the happy group to complete a pleasant evening. Guests were Misses Kathryn Foster, Carol Ann Gidding, Mary Jean Stackhouse, Lucinda Campbell, Patty Mitchell, Virginia Long, Patty Long, Mary Lorane Boylan, Carolyn Knapp, Joan Arnold, Marilyn Ashley, Joan Kellough, Marita Craig, Helen Rhodes, Helen McCoy, Jean Howard, Cindy Harper, Alma Barger and Miss Joyce Jamison of Leesburg. Miss Riber was assisted in the hospitalities by her mother, Mrs. Arch Riber, her sister, Miss Marie Riber and Miss Celia Wright.

Church Society Entertained
The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Christian Church entertained the Endeavorers of the New Holland Church of Christ, in the social rooms of the church here Friday night. Owing to the storm, the guests were greatly delayed, but in spite of the downpour of rain, two car loads of visitors arrived. A total of about thirty young people enjoyed the program. This consisted of games, contests and singing, which was followed with refreshments of ice cream, cakes and iced tea, after which the group joined hands in the Friendship Circle and prayers were offered. Then the company separated, having thoroughly enjoyed the evening together. Ronald Merritt was master of ceremonies and Jean Spencer and Alice Davis were hostesses. The visitors were chaperoned by Reverend John O. Tigner and Mrs. Tigner, of the Church of Christ in New Holland.

Chitty-Dursch Wedding Vows Read Saturday

The home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Chitty near Xenia, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, when their daughter, Helen, became the bride of Mr. Carl Dursch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dursch of Germantown. The double ring ceremony was read in the living room, before an improvised altar, with a background of white daisies in tall standards and two seven branch candelabra, by Reverend Scherry of Xenia. The wedding was attended by relatives and a few close friends of the bride and groom. The bride chose for the occasion, a pink tropical linen suit, all accessories of white, and a single white orchid pinned at her shoulder. She carried a white prayer book, with white satin streamers, knotted with pink rose buds. Mrs. Harry Campbell of this city a close friend of the bride, was her matron of honor and only attendant. Mrs. Campbell was wearing an aqua tropical linen suit, all accessories of white and a corsage of pink shattered carnations. Mr. Ralph Barkalow of Germantown was best man for the groom. A half hour of nuptial music preceding the ceremony was presented by Mrs. Ralph Barkalow. A small reception followed. The former Miss Chitty is well known here, where she spent four years as teacher of the third grade at the Eastside School. After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home on East Second Street Xenia. Mr. Harry Campbell and Mrs. Kathryn Fuels were other guests attending from here.

Sports Roundup
 By FRITZ HOWELL
 GRAND RAPIDS, June 16—(AP)—Ohio's crow shooters are getting just a bit "chesty" about their prowess and are willing to take on all comers at the intricate sport of polishing off the predatory pests.
 For nine years the national crow-shooting championship has been held in Ohio, for nine years Ohioans have won it, and for nine years Ohioans have held all offices in the American Crow Shooting Association.
 But yesterday, after Mike Anderson, 40-year-old locomotive hostler at Napoleon's D. T. & I. roundhouse, had won the annual title by blasting 12 birds from the air—the same total snagged by 35-year-old Ed Megard of Cincinnati who finished second—the boys voted to give the outsiders a better chance.
 This Grand Rapids sportsmen's club, which has been host to the shoot the last two years, wants the hunters back again next year, but the association members decided to hold up acceptance of the

PROTEST ALLOWED BY AA PRESIDENT
 COLUMBUS, June 16—(AP)—American Association President Frank C. Lane today allowed a protest by Indianapolis of a game with Kansas City June 7, ordering the contest resumed at the point of the disputed incident.
 The Indians protested over one of their base runners being tagged and called "out" as he whirled in pain a few feet off second base after being struck by a thrown ball.
 The score was tied, 2 to 2, in the last of the sixth inning. Kansas City went on to score five more runs and win, 7 to 2.

Miller Slugging Downs Red Birds
 (By The Associated Press)
 Pitching provided the payoff in three American Association baseball parks yesterday, with five games being decided on hurling performances of six hits or less.
 Indianapolis hurlers held St. Paul to four hits in each game of a doubleheader, Bob Malloy turning the trick in the first game and Manuel Perez and Red Barnett teaming up for the same record in the seven inning nightcap. Joe Ostrowski turned in a five-hit job for Louisville against St. Paul, and John Pavlik of Toledo limited Kansas City to only six blows in a seven inning encounter.
 The fine hurling gave Indianapolis a twin win over the Saints, 9 to 0 and 6 to 3. Milwaukee was the only other team to win both ends of a doubleheader, but depended on slugging power to down Columbus, 18 to 5, and 7 to 2. Kansas City took the opener from Toledo, 7 to 4, but the Mudhens captured the second contest, 4 to 3. Louisville took the first game from Minneapolis, 3 to 1, but dropped the afterpiece, 5 to 1.

Movie Horse Race Marred by Rileup
 LANCASTER, June 16—(AP)—A pileup during the first event of harness horse racing at the fairgrounds Sunday injured one driver, shook up another driver and injured four horses.
 Grant Connelly, 67, of Springfield, O., was treated at a hospital for scalp lacerations and multiple abrasions.
 The pileup occurred in front of the stands when Connelly's horse, stumbled and fell. Harold Bowlby, Columbus, O., driver, was shaken up when his horse crashed into Connelly's overturned sulky.
 The races were sponsored by 20th Century Fox to attract crowds for scenes in the movie, "The Green Grass of Wyoming." Lancaster is providing more than one-third of the locale for the movie.

Over 400 Have Bought Tickets For Big Tour

Special Train Leaves City at 7 A. M. On Tuesday

After a long winter and a rainy spring, youngsters throughout the county have gotten the excursion spirit said W. W. Montgomery, county agent, as he announced that 400 people from here are expected to attend the annual Clinton-Fayette 4-H Club Tour to Cincinnati on Tuesday.

Of this number, Montgomery said, probably 25 percent will be adults, who have been invited to attend. He said that Wilmington will probably have 800 people attending the tour. "Everybody interested in 4-H Club work, including 4-H members, parents, friends and relatives from all parts of Clinton and Fayette counties may go on the trip," said Montgomery.

Ticket sales, which have been going on in all parts of the county, have been going very well, said Montgomery. The cost of the ticket includes railroad fare, chartered buses, admission to the zoo, round trip on the Island Queen and the box lunch for supper.

This trip, he pointed out, gives children who otherwise might not have the opportunity, a chance to take a train and to see such things as the Cincinnati Zoo, the Cincinnati Union Terminal and Coney Island Amusement Park.

A special Baltimore and Ohio train will leave here at 7 A. M. Tuesday, leave Wilmington at 7:30 A. M., arrive in Cincinnati at 9:30 A. M. At 10 A. M., chartered buses will leave for the Cincinnati Zoo. While at the zoo, the excursionists will have a noonday box lunch. At 1:30 P. M., chartered buses will leave for the Coney Island wharf, where the Island Queen river boat will leave at 2:30 P. M. for Coney Island, arriving at 3:45 P. M.

The excursion will leave Coney Island aboard the Island Queen at 6:30 P. M. At 7:40 P. M. the tour will arrive in Cincinnati again, after dinner on the boat. At 8 P. M., chartered buses leave for the terminal. At 8:45 P. M., a special B and O train leaves the terminal arriving in Wilmington at 10:10 P. M. and Washington C. H. at 10:45 P. M.

Tax Cut Vetoed

Carroll Reece, Republican national chairman, said in a statement that "Mr. Truman has committed his administration to continued support of the tax and tax spend and spend, and elect and elect philosophy of the now discredited new deal."

It was the second time in history that a president has vetoed a tax bill—and the first time one providing a tax cut has been vetoed.

President Franklin D. Roosevelt vetoed a tax bill in 1944.

The bill President Truman vetoed provided for reductions ranging from 10.5 to 30 percent in individual income taxes, beginning July 1.

He told the Congress members the time for tax reduction "will come when general inflationary pressures have eased and the structure of prices is on a more stable basis than now prevails."

"How long it will take for this point to be reached is impossible to predict," Mr. Truman said. "Clearly, it has not been reached as yet. Tax reduction now would add to, rather than correct, maladjustments in the economic structure."

World Responsibilities The president also cited this nation's "great responsibilities for international relief and rehabilitation."

County Courts

WANTS DIVORCE

Mary Cook, a minor, filing her petition in Common Pleas Court, asks for divorce from Robert E. Cook, to whom she was married March 6, 1946. Gross neglect of duty is charged. Restoration to her maiden name of Mary Brown is asked by the plaintiff, who is represented by Hill and Hill.

ASKS SEPARATION

Gerald R. Creamer, in a suit filed against Elinor Ann Creamer, asks divorce and that the defendant be restored to her maiden name of Elinor Ann Slage. The parties were married in Greenup, Ky., July 20, 1946, and gross neglect of duty is charged. John P. Case represents the plaintiff.

SEEKS DIVORCE

Verna E. Howland, charging gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty, has filed action for divorce from David Lee Howland, to whom she was married in June, 1930. Custody of their child is asked. A restraining order was issued to prevent the defendant from interfering with the plaintiff. Hill and Hill represent the plaintiff, who charges gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty.

tation that have an important bearing on our efforts to secure lasting peace."

Arguing against cutting taxes while the debt is high, the president asserted:

"A time of high employment and high prices, wages, and profits, such as the present, calls for a surplus in government revenue over expenditures and the application of all or much of this surplus to the reduction of the public debt."

He continued: "Continuing public confidence in government finances depends upon such a policy. If the government does not reduce the public debt during most active and inflationary periods, there is little prospect of material reduction at any time, and the country would, as a result, be in a poorer position to extend supports to the economy should a subsequent deflationary period develop."

But beyond this general argument against any tax cut now, Mr. Truman specifically criticized the measure Congress sent him.

He said it reduces taxes "in the high income brackets to a grossly disproportionate extent" and declared a good bill "would give a greater proportion of relief to the low income group."

At the same time, he recommended that congress study and plan for a "thorough going revision of the tax system," considering not only individual income tax rates, but adjustments in the level of personal exemptions and changes in excise tax laws, gift and estate taxes, corporation taxes and "the entire field of tax revenues."

"H. R. 1 (The Tax Reduction Bill) fails to give relief where it is needed most," his message asserted. "Under H. R. 1, tax savings to the average family with an income of $2,500 would be less than $30, while taxes on an income of $50,000 would be reduced by nearly $5,000 and on an income of $500,000 by nearly $60,000."

"Insofar as 'take home' pay is concerned under H. R. 1, the family earning $2,500 would receive an increase of only 1.2 percent; the family with an income of $50,000 would receive an increase of 18.6 percent; and the family with an income of $500,000 would receive an increase of 62.3 percent."

Cinderella Sewers Meet

The Cinderella Sewers discussed the 4-H Club tour to Cincinnati Tuesday and the 4-H Club camp at a meeting at the home of Nellie Coughlin.

After the business meeting, refreshments were served. The next meeting will be at the home of Jeanette Deer at 1:30 P. M. Thursday.

Less Than Half Of Veterans Are Given Training

605,926 Applications For Training Are Given Approval

Less than half the veterans in Fayette County eligible for education or job training benefits provided by the government have actually entered into any type of program, the Veterans Administration office in Columbus said, as they pointed out that this has been the trend throughout the tri-state area covered by the Columbus office.

Officials said that 605,926 applications for education or job training have been approved, while 48.5 percent or 294,100 veterans have taken advantage of their benefits, throughout the tri-state area.

Of Ohio's 770,000 World War II veterans, 325,685 have been approved for training benefits and 150,953 actually have commenced training courses. These educational and vocational benefits are available under the GI Bill and the Vocational Rehabilitation Act.

The VA pointed out that courses taken under army education programs or correspondence or self-teaching courses taken through the US Armed Forces Institute or University Extension Correspondence Courses while in the service do not detract from the amount of education to which they may be entitled under the GI Bill.

The VA said that these courses usually earned the veteran definite credits which may be applied to GI Bill training.

Vacation Bible School Planned For July

A daily vacation Bible school is being planned and will be held at the First Christian Church, North and Temple Streets, for two weeks, from July 7 to 19 inclusive.

Daily class sessions will be held from 9 to 11 A. M. Monday through Friday each week.

Plans will be completed shortly and enrollment begun. Mrs. Hazel McNorton and Miss Jean Spencer are in charge of the school. Children of all faiths are invited to attend, from primary through intermediate ages.

Suffers Fracture In Auto Accident

Dave Ross, 111 Hickory Street, is in Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, today suffering from a broken leg received at 9:30 P. M. Sunday when he was struck by an automobile on Columbus Avenue.

Ross, who is 74, was crossing Columbus Avenue at Wilson Street when he stumbled and fell in front of a car driven by Emory M. Thomas, 122 Highland Avenue Columbus. Thomas apparently had his car under control, said police, but could not stop when Ross fell.

Ross was taken to Dr. A. D. Woodmansee's office and from there to Mt. Carmel Hospital, where he was treated for a compound fracture of the right leg just above the ankle. Police said that latest reports from the hospital state that amputation will probably not be necessary as it was believed at first. Ross was taken in the Klever ambulance.

Eagles Delegation Attends Meeting

Five members of the Washington C. H. Eagles Lodge attended the district meeting of the Fraternal Order of Eagles at Zanesville Sunday when plans were completed for the state convention of the lodge to be in Columbus June 20, 21 and 22.

The delegation from here included James A. Ducey, president, R. W. Hays, Trox Farrell, Percy Shaffer and Dewey Harmon. Robert W. Maxon, Eagle's state president, directed the meeting.

Athens Driver Arrested Here As Hit-Skipper

Auto Killed Man in Buchtel, Athens Co., Saturday Night

Robert Edwin Arnold, 23, of Athens, was taken into custody here by the police, Sunday at 12:45 A. M. and held as a hit-skip driver whose car is said to have killed a man at Buchtel, Athens County.

Arnold was taken into custody by the night police as he came into the city, and was removed to the city prison where he was held for Sheriff George Bateman of Athens County who came after him Sunday, and took him back to Athens County to stand trial in connection with the violent death of the man whom he had struck Saturday evening.

It seems that Arnold did not stop when he struck the man while traveling at high speed, and the man's body was hurled some distance and one leg severed and thrown 50 feet.

The windshield of the new Studebaker automobile was shattered, damage done to a fender, and to one of the door posts.

It seems that a young man with Arnold at the time of the accident left the car at Nelsonville, notified police, and a dragnet thrown out was closed by the police here.

Drivers Are Cited On Charges Here

George William McCoy, city, was picked up by police over the weekend on driving while drunk charge, and posted $125 bond for his appearance Thursday. He announced his intention of fighting the charges.

Bernard A. Kroger, was cited for reckless operation, and Carl E. Stanford, Dayton, also was cited for reckless operation.
